

PRESS RELEASE

20 April 2005

CIC continues to press for a restructuring of the way in which government interacts with the construction industry

CIC is continuing to press for a restructuring of the way in which government interacts with the construction industry. Graham Watts, Chief Executive of CIC, outlined the collective concerns of CIC's members in a speech at the House of Lords on 19 April.

The full speech, which was made at the of the Chartered Institution of Building Services Engineers Patrons' Lunch can be viewed at www.cic.org.uk

For further information please contact the press office at CIC press@cic.org.uk or 020 7399 7407

Ends

1. CIC is the representative forum for the professional bodies, research organisations and specialist trade associations in the construction industry. It provides a single voice for professionals in all sectors of the built environment through its collective membership of 500,000 individual professionals and 30,000 firms of construction consultants.
2. The Chartered Institution of Building Services Engineers (CIBSE) is an international body which represents and provides services to the building services profession.

